

Jordan George

Jordan is an award-winning culture transformation leader and sought-after international speaker with a passion for empowering people and businesses to achieve their full potential. With over 15 years of experience designing innovative and highly engaging leadership and change management solutions for companies across the financial services, manufacturing, healthcare, education, and hospitality sectors including Starbucks, Travel & Leisure, InnovaCare Health, Sodexo, Addition Financial, Rollins College, and the University of Central Florida, Jordan is well-versed in helping businesses shape their organizational culture, lead through change, and foster a dynamic, high-impact workforce.

As Head of Client Solutions at Curium US, Jordan's focus is on cultivating long-term partnerships, elevating the company's business and people transformation solutions, and delivering exceptional client experiences at every touchpoint. Jordan is an expert facilitator who has invested over 15,000 hours in leading workshops, global leadership and change initiatives, webinars, and keynote engagements for groups ranging from 3 to 3000 people. His diverse background working with both small and large organizations has helped shape his data-driven approach to business transformation, while he leans on his unique training as a professional improviser to help teams improve communication, amplify creativity, and navigate change in a way that empowers people to do their best work.
